

DANISH EMBASSY ART PRIZE 2019

10 years anniversary exhibition

For BA and MA students & graduates from Denmark at UK art programmes

Deadline 14 December 2018.

Danish Embassy Art Prize is an annual art competition for UK-based artists and arts students from Denmark. It started in 2009 and aims to showcase and provide a platform for emerging artists. Participation is open to recent BA or MA graduates from Denmark who have been part of a UK art programmes (MA graduates can participate up to 24 months after graduation). Previous recipients of the prize include Birk Thomassen, Mads Holm, Eva Lerche-Lerchenborg, Ragna Mouritzen, Asger Harbou Gjerdevik, Christian Brehms, Karl Monies and more.

The external art professional jury for this year's 10 years anniversary prize is Mads Damsbo, Director at Brandts Art Museum, Marie Nipper, Director, Copenhagen Contemporary, Gitte Ørskou, Director, Kunsten, and Barry Phipps, Director of Visual Art at The Møller Centre and Fellow at Churchill College, University of Cambridge.

The winner of the Danish Embassy Art Prize 2019 will be offered a solo exhibition at the Royal Danish Embassy in London along with an opening reception organised to promote the winning artist. The artist will receive £1000 towards materials, installation and transport of the works to and from the embassy. The works will be on display for one year in the embassy's main conference room and meeting rooms.

Entries should include an exhibition proposal, along with images of selected artworks and a copy of your CV. All works must be wall mountable, i.e. paintings, graphic arts, photography, or alternatively reliefs and wall sculptures.

Further information: Mette Fjeldhoff, Royal Danish Embassy, London: metfje@um.dk

DANISH EMBASSY ART PRIZE 2019

APPLICATION FORM

Name of artist _____

Address _____

Postcode _____

Telephone _____

Email _____

UK institution _____

Course and year of graduation _____

Title of exhibition (if any) _____

Materials _____

Proposed Art work description (attach sketches or images separately)

-

-

-

Additional information (if any)

-

-

Date & Signature _____

Send this application form along with images and /or sketches of your proposed material with the subject line "Entry: Danish Embassy Art Prize" to Mette Fjeldhoff, Royal Danish Embassy, London: metfie@um.dk

This application form and CV must be combined into one PDF file, and any images or sketches can be sent via Dropbox or Google Drive link. The PDF along with any link or attached files must be sent in one email.

Deadline for applications is 14th December 2018

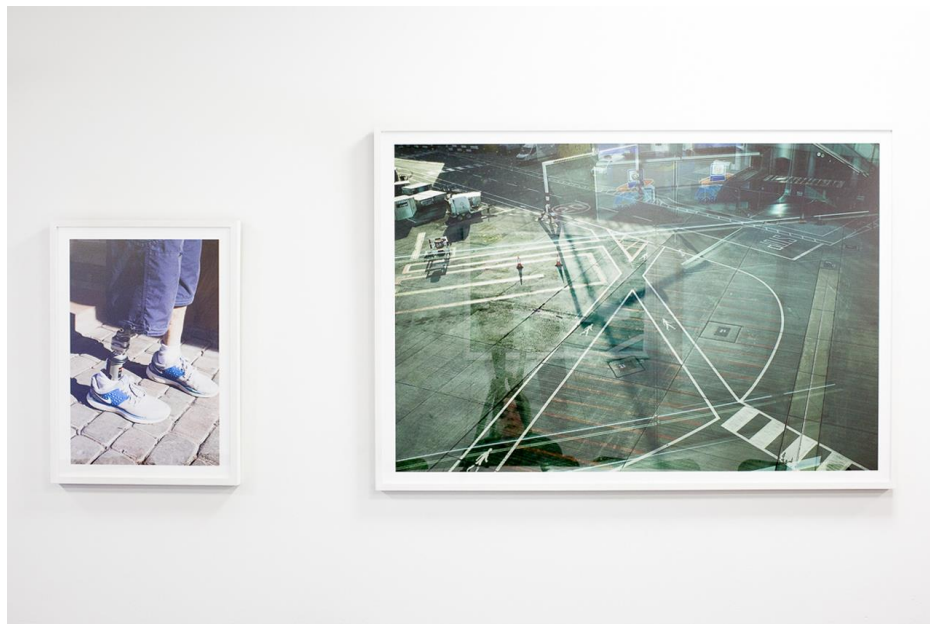

DANISH EMBASSY ART PRIZE FAQs

What are the key dates for Danish Embassy Art Prize 2019?

Open to applications:	1 November 2018
Closing deadline for applications:	14 December 2018
Recipient announced:	30 January 2019
Installation completed by artist, and opening reception at the Royal Danish Embassy, London:	March 2019 - Date TBC

What is the Danish Embassy Art Prize?

Danish Embassy Art Prize is a unique opportunity for talented and upcoming artists and arts students. By participating in the Danish Embassy Art Prize, the artwork submitted will be reviewed by highly skilled professionals from across the industry, and the winning artworks will be promoted through the embassy communication channels. Furthermore, the artist will be able to have his or her works displayed in the embassy's main conference room, and two meeting rooms sparking interest from many international visitors. The recipient of the prize will receive £1000 towards the materials, installation and transport costs of their exhibition. The Danish Embassy Art Prize has been an annual art event for Danish arts students and graduates since 2009.

Mads Holm, Embassy Art Prize Winner 2016

Who can enter the Danish Embassy Art Prize?

Danish Embassy Art Prize is open to BA and MA students from Denmark studying at or recently graduated from UK-based art programmes (up to 24 months following graduation).

How will the prize/ exhibition be promoted?

The recipient of the prize will be announced and promoted on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and in the Embassy's monthly cultural e-newsletter. Furthermore, the recipient will be listed on the Embassy webpage along with previous recipients. In addition to the online promotion, exposure of the art works will also take place at the embassy following the private view reception. The art works will be exhibited in frequently used conference and meeting rooms in the embassy for one year, resulting in a wide exposure. A pamphlet with background information about the artist and his or her practice will be available in close proximity to the art works.

Do I retain the rights to my work?

Yes. All entrants retain the ownership and copyright of all art works submitted.

Asger Harbou Gjerdevik, Embassy Art Prize Winner 2013

Can I submit work which has been previously exhibited elsewhere?

Yes. Entries of art works that have been shown elsewhere can be considered.

Can I change my entry once it has been submitted?

Alterations cannot be made to submissions once they have been received.

Can I receive the dimensions of the exhibition space?

For more information about the size and dimensions of the exhibition spaces, contact Mette Fjeldhoff metfje@um.dk

What type of artwork can be submitted?

Only wall mountable artwork will be taken into consideration, i.e. paintings, graphic arts, photography, or alternatively reliefs and wall sculptures. The art works should be mounted so it can easily be moved temporarily to be rehung again, if the space is used for a specific purpose during the year.

Will I have to remove my art works after the duration of the exhibition?

Yes. Removal and transport of your art works upon the conclusion of the exhibition period is the responsibility of the artist.

How do I attach high resolution images in an email?

The easiest way to share high resolution images in an email is by sharing it as either a Dropbox, Google Drive or WeTransfer-link.

If I have any questions?

Any questions can be sent to Mette Fjeldhoff, Royal Danish Embassy, London: metfje@um.dk